HECKMAN.

There is a tradition among the Heckman family, of Franklin County, Pa., that the ancestry of the Heckmans of Pennsylvania is traceable to several Heckman brothers who emigrated to this country from Germany, scattering widely on their arrival here and settling in localities distant from each other, where each established separate family branches from which sprang the various Heckman families of to-day. The first of the name to leave Germany and locate in Pennsylvania was John Peter Heckmann, who sailed from Rotterdam on the ship "Judith," James Tait master, landing in Philadelphia, September 15, 1748. Within the next twenty years, 1748-68, he was followed by no fewer than ten other representatives of the name, a remarkably short period for a family to so establish itself in a new country. Ulrich Hackmann, a Palatine, emigrated from Rotterdam on the ship "St. Andrew," James Abercrombie master, landing at Philadelphia, September 9, 1749. Melchior Heckman, a Palatine, emigrated from Rotterdam on the ship "Fame," William Hyndman master, landing at Philadelphia, October 17, 1749. Hans Adram and Wilhelm Heckman and Peter Hickman sailed from Rotterdam on the ship "Brothers," William McNair master, and landed at Philadelphia, September 22, 1752. A little less than a year later, on September 10, 1753, Albrecht Heckman, a Palatine, landed in Philadelphia from the ship "Beulah," Captain Richey master, from Rotterdam. Another John Peter Heckman emigrated from Rotterdam on the ship "Neptune," George Smith master, landing at Philadelphia, October 7, 1755. John Adam Heckman came from Rotterdam on the ship "Richmond," Charles Younghusband master, and arrived at Philadelphia, October 20, 1764, and was followed in turn by Sebastian Heckman, who sailed from Rotterdam on the ship "Chance," Charles Smith master, landing in Philadelphia, September 23, 1766. Still later came John Nicholas Heckman in the ship "Crawford," Charles Smith master, from Rotterdam, landing at Philadelphia, October 26, 1768. As early as 1751-58, Hieronymus Heckman lived in Bart township, Lancaster county, Pa. He was married to a daughter of Mathias Slaymaker and died in 1784. His children were John Martin, Barbara, Eve, Jacob, Hieronymus, Magdalena and Esther. At the time of his death the family name was spelled Eckman and it is likely that the family was Scotch.

In the Revolution and the events leading thereto, it can be accepted as certain that the Heckmans, in common with other German settlers, played their part. Jacob Heckman, of Berks county, Pa., was a private in the company of Captain Henry Christ, Jr., in the Pennsylvania Rifle Regiment, a command organized for the defense of the Province at the suggestion of the Committee of Safety, February 20, 1776, the men being enlisted to serve to January 1, 1778, subject to being discharged at any time. The regiment was raised in about six weeks and rendezvoused at Marcus Hook. On July 2, 1776, it was ordered to Philadelphia, when the number of officers and men in Christ's company reported on duty were 62. Marching to Bordentown on the 4th and to Trenton on the 5th, the regiment proceeded on to Amboy, under orders to join General Mercer, which it accomplished by the 16th. On August 10 the command was ordered to New York under the command of Brigadier-General Lord Stirling and took part in the battle of Long Island, August 27, 1776, in which engagement the regiment was so badly broken up that General Washington ordered the three battalions to be considered as a regiment and placed under the command of Lieutenant-Colonel Daniel Broadhead until further orders, Colonel Miles having been among those killed in the action. On September 27, 1776, these battalions were in General Miflin's brigade and stationed at Mt. Washington. By a rearrangement, October 5, Christ's company became the Seventh in the regiment afterward known as the "Regiment of Foot," at which time the company consisted of 4 sergeants, 1 drummer and 41 privates, with 11 men absent. Thereafter it followed the fortunes of the Continental army. It was engaged in the capture of the Hessians at Trenton, December 26, 1776; in the battle of Princeton, January 3, 1777; and then lay part of the winter at Philadelphia. Its remaining service until January 1, 1778, has not been ascertained.

As indicated by the list of emigrant settlers, the Heckman name was variously spelled, notably Hackman, Heckman, Hickman and Hakeman. By 1790 the family was widely scattered and the first United States census, taken that year, shows its representatives to have settled in at least twelve counties of the State of Pennsylvania, namely, Lancaster, Montgomery, Berks, Cumberland, Allegheny, Chester, Franklin, Northampton, Philadelphia, Washington, York and Westmoreland. According to the census of 1790, Henry Hackman, of Conestoga township, Lancaster county, had a family at that time of one male over 16, two males under 16 and three females, while the family of Melchor Hackman, of the same township, consisted of two males over 16 and four females. Ulrich Hackman, of Mt. Joy township, Lancaster county, had only himself and wife to account for and Henry Hackman, of Warwick township, in the same county, reported two males over 16, two males under 16, and three females. John Hackman, of Montgomery county, also had a family of two males over 16, two under 16, and three females. George Heckman, who lived in Alsace township, Berks county, had a family consisting of himself, six males under 16, and four females. There were two Peter Heckmans in Tulpehocken township, Berks county, one who reported himself and two females as constituting the family and another whose family circle consisted of one male over 16, one under that age, and five [illegible] in this service. Andrew Heckman, of Cumberland county, had with him in his home three males under 16 and five females. Ludwig Heckman, a resident of Lancaster borough, had but himself and wife; and Henry Heckman, of Martic township, Lancaster county, had a family of one male over 16, three males under 16, and three females. There were two Hickmans in Allegheny county, Adam, whose family composed himself, four males under 16 and two females, and Peter, whose domicile contained two males over 16, one male under 16, and one female. There were seven Hickman families in Chester county. That of Dedrich, of Charlestown township, consisting of himself, two males under 16, and two females; of Moses, of East Bradford township, two males over 16, one under that age, and four females; William, Kennet township, four males over 16, two under, and five females; Thomas, Thornbury township, five males over 16, five under, and three females; James, West Caln township, one male over 16, four under 16, and three females; Benjamin, Westtown township, two over 16, four under that age, and six females; and Joseph and Francis, who apparently lived in one house in Westtown township, and whose family comprised themselves and three females. The only family of the name reported in Franklin county was that of Albert Hickman, whose home circle was given as four males over 16 and five females. John Hickman, of Drumore township, Lancaster county, had a family comprising himself, five males under 16, and three females, while another John Hickman, of Little Britain township, in the same county, had himself, five males under 16, and four females to record. In Northampton county there were four Hickmans and two Hakemans enumerated. George Hickman, of Lehigh township, that county, had but himself, wife and son under 16, while John Hickman of Moore township, had a family of two males over 16, two under, and five females. In Allen township, same county, lived Oulderich Hickman, whose family comprised himself, three males under 16 and two females. In the latter township also resided and were recorded an Adam Hickman and an Adam Hakeman, the former with a family of two males over 16, three under, and four females, and the last named with a family of one over 16, one under, and four females. In Allen township also lived George Hakeman, with two males under 16 and three females. In Germantown, Philadephia, Barbara Hickman lived alone, while in the Northern Liberties, Philadelphia, were Benjamin and Nicholas Hickman, the first with a family of one male over 16, one under 16, and six females and the second with himself, one male under 16, and two females to account for. Selby Hickman was a tailor on Spruce street, Philadelphia, at this time and Robert Hickman, a resident of Washington county, with a family of one male over 16, one under, and three females, while William Hickman, also of Washington county, had but himself, son and wife. In York township, York county, there was a John Hickman, whose family consisted of himself, two males under 16 and one female. Last, but probably not the least, in South Huntington township, Westmoreland county, dwelt a Hickman whose given name is not recorded in the census and who was designated as "Mr.," his household consisting of himself and four females. These statistics are not without interest in themselves and are particularly significant as indicating the broad scope covered by the Heckman family in establishing themselves in Pennsylvania.

Some time before the middle of the eighteenth century, certainly before the coming of John Peter Heckmann to Pennsylvania in 1748, Thomas Hickman, of German extraction, had settled in Virginia. He married Sarah Sanderson, and his son, William, famous in his day as a Baptist clergyman, was born in King and Queen Co., Va., Feb. 4. 1747. Both parents died while William Hickman was a child, leaving him and a young daughter to the care of their grandmother. Mr. Heckman united with the Baptist church in 1773, and was licensed to preach in 1776. After visiting Kentucky earlier in the year, where he preached the first sermon in the new settlement. In 1784 he settled in Fayette county, Ky., and founded many churches in Kentucky. An incident in which he was concerned will illustrate the strictness of discipline among Baptists at that period. A young lady, the daughter of Colonel Haskins and afterward the wife of Edward Trabue, was arraigned before the church at Skinquarter "for wearing stays, they being fashionable at that time. She was truly a meek and pious young lamb," wrote the Rev. Mr. Hickman, "I plead her cause and saved her." Mr. Hickman was twice married and raised many children. His eldest son, William, who was born in Virginia, June 1, 1768, and died at his home in Franklin county, Ky., December 24, 1845, was for more than forty years the pastor of South Benson Church. Another of his sons was Captain Paschal Hickman, who was killed in the massacre at the River Raisin, January 22, 1813. He led a party of spies under General Wayne, 1794-95, was a Captain of Kentucky Volunteers under Colonel William Lewis in 1812, and was wounded in the action with the British and Idians at Frenchtown, being killed by the savages in the slaughter that took place three days afterward. The father, William Hickman, Sr., the pioneer, died in Kentucky in 1830. Two other members of the Hickman family also distinguished themselves in the Baptist ministry. The first of these was Jesse Lee Hickman who was born at Saulsbury, N. C., in 1786 and died in Allen county, Ky., March 23, 1850. The other was his nephew, John W. Hickman, who was born in Hickman county, Ky., in 1819 and died in 1850. It is also worthy of note that Hickman county, Ky., was named in honor of Captain Paschal Hickman, son of the Rev. William Hickman, Sr.

Among the prominent representatives of the family in Pennsylvania, probably none attained greater distinction than John Hickman, noteworthy as a lawyer and statesman. He was born in Chester county, Pa., September 11, 1810, and died in West Chester, Pa., March 23, 1875. He was educated by private tutors, read law in West Chester, and was there admitted to the bar in 1832. He acquired reputation in his profession and as a political speaker, and in 1854 he was elected to Congress as a Democrat in a strong Whig district. He was re-elected in 1856, changed his views on the slavery question, was again elected in 1858 as a Douglas Democrat by a large majority over both the regular nominees, and became a leader on the side of the North, acquiring a national repute through his brilliant speeches. In 1860 he was a candidate for the Republican nomination for the vice-presidency. He was again elected to Congress in 1860 as a Republican and was the first to propose in Congress the freeing of the slaves and the enlisting of negro soldiers. At the close of his fourth Congressional term he declined a re-election and with the exception of a single term in the Pennsylvania Legislature, passed the rest of his life at his home in West Chester. Another Hickman who at one time commanded attention at the National Capital was Robert S. Hickman, who was born in 1813 and died in Washington, D. C., September 2, 1873. His career was in its way a parallel with that of the famous Beau Brummel. A native of Virginia or Maryland, he went to Washington about the time of the Mexican War and soon became noted there for the elegance of his dress and manners, acquiring the name of "Beau" Hickman. He was on familar terms with many public men and in later life entertained many visitors in Washington with his reminiscences and anecdotes, and subsisted by means of trifling sums that he pretended to borrow from his hearers, a sad termination to a brilliant past.

Charles Adam Heckman, a descendant of Jacob Heckman, of the Revolution, was born in Easton, Pa., Dec. 3, 1822, and was graduated at Minerva Seminary, in his native town, in 1837. In the war with Mexico he served as sergeant in the First United States Voltigeurs. He was commissioned Captain in the First Pennsylvania Regiment, April 20, 1861, became Major of the 9th New Jersey, October 3, was promoted to Lieutenant-Colonel, December 3, and to Colonel February 10, 1862. He was made a Brigadier-General of Volunteers, November 29, 1862. He served in Burnside's expedition to North Carolina and afterward in the Army of the James, being wounded at Newbern and Young's Cross dent in which he was concerned and illustrative of the conditions of the place among Indians at that period. He was taken to Libby prison and afterward to Macon, Ga., and Charleston, S. C., where he was one of the fifty-one officers that were placed under fire of the National guns. He was exchanged on August 25, commanded the 18th Corps at the capture of Fort Harrison, Chapin's Bluff, and the 25th Corps in January and February, 1865. He resigned when the war was over, May 25, 1865, and in 1887 was a resident of Phillipsburg, N. J., where he served as a member of the Board of Education.

I.

ALBRECHT HECKMAN, the emigrant ancestor of the Heckman family of Franklin county, Pa., was born in the Palatinate, Germany, May 22, 1732, and died in Guilford township, Franklin county, Pa., May 30, 1804. He emigrated to Pennsylvania on the ship "Beulah," Captain Richey, sailing from Rotterdam and landing at Philadelphia, September 10, 1753. It is probable that he remained in Eastern Pennsylvania for a brief period, but he among the early settlers of the Cumberland Valley and bought the farm which became the Heckman homestead in Guilford township, Cumberland, now Franklin county, February 15, 1771. This land adjoined the plantation of Frederick Croft, whose son, David Croft, was the brother-in-law by marriage of Heckman's two sons, Michael and Henry. The Heckman homstead was surveyed to Samuel Howard and William Forsyth, October 21, 1749. Forsyth was killed by the Indians in 1759 and was the first person buried in Falling Spring Presbyterian graveyard. His grave is on the spot where he fell and his tombstone is still standing. The farm was sold by Forsyth's father, John Forsyth, to Patrick Jack in 1761, and by Patrick and James Jack to John Irwin in 1762. About the time the land was sold to the Jacks, Patrick Jack went to North Carolina, where he was one of the promoters of the Mecklenburg Declaration of Independence, as John Jack, son of his brother, James, was one of the propounders of the Hannasburg Declaration of Independence in Westmoreland county, Pa. The Heckman homestead, which Mr. Heckman bought from Irwin, was situated north of the present Witherspoon and Miller farms. By a deed dated April 18, 1788, Albrecht Heckman sold a part of his land to Michael Ralfsnider. This tract was bought by Ralfsnider for his son, John, who was also the son-in-law of Heckman, and to whom it was conveyed simultaneously with the conveyance of Albrecht Heckman to Michael Ralfsnider. Heckman retained 124½ acres of the original Heckman homestead, which, after his death, were taken by his eldest son, Michael, in proceedings in partition in the Orphans' Court of Franklin county. Mr. Heckman was enrolled in Captain William Findley's company, Cumberland County Associators, in 1777 and later with Captain James Young's company of the Associators. It is not definitely proved but it is probable that he served a tour of duty under Captain Young in 1778. Heckman's name is variously spelled in different public documents and other records. In the roll of Captain Young's company, as printed in the "Pennsylvania Archives," it is Albert Hickman and the same name, with the same spelling, is applied to him in the first United States census in 1790. In the deed of 1788 to Michael Ralfsnider, it is Albright Hickman but the signature to the deed is written in German. In the absence of the original deed, the exact spelling of the name in German can not be determined, as the tracing in the copy in the office of the Recorder of Deeds is uncertain. The name is also Albright Hickman in the original deed from Irwin to Heckman, February 15, 1771. Mr. Heckman was a member of the Grindestone Hill Lutheran Church, in the graveyard of which he was buried. The inscription on his tombstone, as translated by the Rev. David H. Focht, for his history of the church in 1854, is as follows:

had been supplied only occasionally over these years by the student Henry Goetschy (between 1736 and 1739), by the Reverend Peter Henry Dorsius (1740), pastor of the Dutch Reformed Church at Neshaminy, and by Goetschy's brother-in-law, John Conrad Wirtz (1745), who for a short time had been schoolmaster at Goshenhoppen,[28] it is not surprising that there are records of the baptism of only two of George Hertzel's children, one in 1741, and the other in 1743. Who administered these two is uncertain; possibly it was John Justus Jacob Birckenstock, the Lutheran minister who opened the books for the Lutheran congregation "of the Augsburg Confession" which met at Philip Schlauch's, George's brother-in-law.[29] It was not until 1756, when John Egidius Hecker, pastor of the Reformed congregation in Lower Saucon, opened those church books, that George Hertzel had the names and births of all his children entered in the registers. On 1 January 1761, as a member of the Lower Saucon Reformed congregation's consistory, George Hertzel signed the church accounts.[30]

Just over a year later on 21 January 1762, George Hertzel and George Heckman were both drowned at Easton, probably as they were attempting to cross the Lehigh River. The accident must have been witnessed by local residents and the bodies recovered quickly, for both men were buried by the Reverend Hecker three days later on 23 January.[31]

George Hertzel's will, written in German 21 February 1757, when he had been "sick and weak," was proved at Easton 3 February 1762, two weeks after his burial. Since at the time it was written he did not know when it would please God to take him from "this Troublesom world," he "taught it be Just Before I depart" to set down his wishes regarding his worldly estate. His "True & beloved wife Catharina Heartzel [was] to have the full maneging power of all my Real & personal Estate to keeped in her hands to manege . . . as God the Almighty Give her Sences According to her proper Desire, So Long as she doth no get married again. But if it should be or happen for another presentation of marige or to Contract a new Marige, then she shall not have any longer power to manege with the said Estate till the youngest Child is of Age." His children "which is left with there Mother shall be obedient and secure her in Every helpful Thing." If it should happen that the mother should marry before the children came to full age, "then they Shall be Taken from her if they are fit to Learn a Trade." None of the children were to have after his death "no more one as the other, But they shall go an Equal Share Together." It was witnessed by John Egidius Hecker and Jacob Shymer.[32]

Cut off at the age of forty-eight, the inventory of his estate, taken 15 February 1762, by Jacob Shymer and Rudolphus Oberle, a neighbor, reveals the degree of prosperity his industry had achieved. He owned a herd of eight cows, four heiffers, two sucking calves, two bulls and a steer, four horses and a mare, a dozen sheep and eight swine. In a quarter century of farming he had accumulated a hand saw, auger, crosscut saw, drawing knife and two axes, three plows and irons, valued at £1 10*s.*, an iron tooth harrow, grubbing hoes and scythes, dung hooks and dungfork, a windmill, a waggon and its equipment, valued at £5 5*s.*, with "horse Gears at £3 5*s.*" In the house his wearing apparel was valued at £8, a walnut table at 12*s.*, two beds at £1 10*s.* and three other beds each at £2 10*s.*, a dresser "and the clothing on it" at £2, "some Books" at £1, a lanthorn and tankard, wooden stools, a looking glass and tea cups, two spinning wheels, assorted iron and earthen pots, kettles and pans, casks and tubs, a man's hackney saddle, and a pair of wool cards and "Bels." Three bonds due the estate, fourteen bills, and his "improvement" brought the total to £493 15*s.* 9*d.*

A vendue held 28 April 1762, probably to bring in cash to pay debts and funeral expenses, brought in £24 14*s.* 10*d.* His son-in-law Jacob Gross bought tobacco, a little tub, a jacket and a "body jacket," while neighbors bought other pieces of his clothing: a leather jacket and three pairs of leather breeches, a linsey jacket and two other jackets. Adam Edelman, to whom he had sold fifteen acres back in 1758, bought a "pair of quilers" and a box. His son-in-law Philip "Stewfer" (Stuber) bought three of the sheep and an auger, while three more sheep and two cows went to neighbors. Christopher Santee acquired a "sithe," a churn and a big spinning wheel.

The family continued to live on the farm for another six years until the youngest children were married. Then on 1 February 1769, seven years after George's death, Jacob Gross, his eldest son-in-law, agreed to lings "which is left with them Mother shall be obedient and assist her in Every lawful Thing". If it should happen that the mother should marry before the children came of full age, "then they shall be Taken from her if they are fit to be put to Trade." Some of the children were to have after her death "as much out of the estate, but they shall go to Equal Share Together". It was witnessed by John Egidius Hecker and Jacob Fortnar.[illegible]

Cut off at the age of forty-eight, the inventory of his estate, taken 11 February 1742, by Jacob Shriver and Rudolphus Church, a neighbor, reveals the degree of prosperity his industry had achieved. He owned a herd of eight cows, four heifers, two yearling calves, one bull, and a steer, four horses and a mare, a dozen sheep and eight swine. In a quarter century of farming he had accumulated a hand saw, auger, crosscut saw, drawing knife and two axes, three plows and some valued at £1 10s, an iron tooth harrow, grubbing hoes and scythes, sheep hooks and dung forks, a windmill, a wagon and its equipment, valued at £3 5s, with "Some Gears at £1 15s". In the house his walnut cupboard was valued at £3, a walnut table at 12s, two beds at £2 10s, and three other beds each at £2 10s, a dresser "and the clothing on it" at £5, "some Books" at 5s, a lantern and tinware, wooden stools, a looking glass and six cups, two spinning wheels, [illegible] iron and earthen pots, kettles and pans, casks and tubs, a [illegible] saddle, and a pair of wool cards and "Bake". NON ASSOCIATORS

1778 - 1779

Unrest had developed in the Colonies by the extreme taxation which was imposed upon the inhabitants by the British Parliament.

The Colonist argument was "did they have the right to impose these taxes to support a standing army in America".

Grievance upon grievance prevailed and soon an invitation was issued to all the Colonial Assemblies to consider them. They then united and formed the First Continental Congress.

From this Congress, which met in Pennsylvania, the Council of Safety was formed and County Militias came into being. These were considered the ASSOCIATORS. Those that opposed military rule were listed as NON ASSOCIATORS. Many of these were the German pioneers, who upon entering this country took the Oath of Allegiance to the British Crown, since the Colonies were under that rule and thought that sufficient. Others refused for religious reasons. The percentage of these people was small and while refusing to take the Oath and be part of the County Militias, they did support the new government in other ways as history tells us.

The following is the list of those who refused to take the oath in 1778-1779:

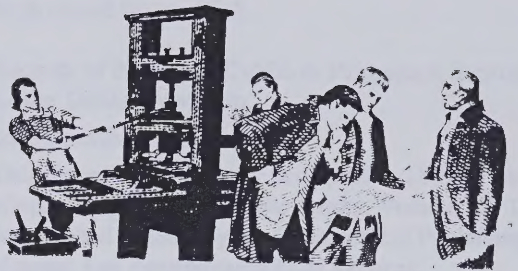
PENNSYLVANIA BIRTHS
Montgomery County
1682-1800

John T. Humphrey

KUGLER
~~SCHAEFFER~~



Humphrey Publications
Washington, D. C.

there is no homogeneity in Montgomery County records, there appear to be inconsistencies in this text. In most of the records that were used the date of birth was recorded and that was the date included here. In other records the recorded date was the day the infant was baptized. Those dates were entered here with notation bp. Quakers recorded dates of birth only and those dates were recorded in an unconventional way, that is, the month was written in numeric form, i.e., 4 7mo 1776, normally written 4 July 1776.

Two pastoral records were used, the registers of John Casper Stoever and Rev. Henry Melchior Muhlenberg. Because the place of baptism is given in Rev. Stoever's records it was possible to include here only those baptisms that occurred in Montgomery County. The published work of Rev. Stoever's accounts omitted the initial pages of his records. Those omited records were examined and the births pertinent to this text were included.

Rev. Henry Melchior Muhlenberg kept a daily diary or journal that has been published. Interspersed throughout his journal are baptisms that he preformed over a number of years, many of which were never recorded in church records. The births used for this work were found in volume three of his journals covering the years 1777 to 1787.

In several church records the date recorded in the original record was the day the child was baptized and in lieu of a date of birth the child's age was given. In those instances a calculated date of birth was recorded here based on the child's age and was entered as ca Jul 1776.

The format used for each birth record should be fairly obvious. The initial name listed is the child's first name. The names following the date of birth are the names of the father and mother. The number identifies the church record where that birth record was found. A name in parenthesis following the mother's name is her surname. The notation bp after the child's name signifies the date following is the date of baptism.

Infant	Date of Birth or baptism	Father	Mother	Record
Frack
Heinrich	27 Mar 1763	Jacob	Christina (Krebs)	9
Jacob	bp 16 Apr 1748	Daniel	Margaret	7

In several instances question marks appear in the text. In some cases those question marks were placed there by me because of my inability to read the original text. In other instances they were in the typed or handwritten translations or copies of the original text and were placed there by the person who made the transcription or translation from the original. They undoubtedly mean the translator/transcriber also had difficulty in reading and/or translating certain names.

Other notes and abbreviations found in the original records include the designation for twin, shortened here to tw, and ill for illegitimate. Researchers will find evidence for the birth of twins in these records beyond those identified by tw. The twin designation was used or copied here only when it was found in the source record.

Lastly there are two sections at the end that deserve special note. One section, labeled miscellaneous, contains birth records where the surname was unknown. The second section contains births found in Quaker records for married women, that is, the surname given was the husband's surname, not the father's. In those records the names of parents were not given.

increased to fifty-seven, and now it is over two hundred, thus requiring some time before it fully recovered from so severe a shock.

This church was incorporated by an act of the Legislature passed September 26, 1783, the trustees being the pastor, Rev. David Loofborough, Isaac James, Peter Evans, Jenken Evans and George Smith. The Rev. Joshua Jones, after serving the church eight years, died December 26, 1802, aged eighty-two years. Silas Hough, M.D., was the fifth minister, and attended to the duties of his position, as well as those of a physician, for about eighteen years. During a period of Mr. Hough's illness the church was partially supplied by the Rev. Joseph Mathias, of Hilltown, Samuel Smith and Henry Nightingale. Thomas P. Robinson, after a six years' pastorate, died May 27, 1838. Rev. William M. Mathews, of England, filled the station for about nine years, and was succeeded, May 1, 1850, by Rev. George Higgins, who maintained this relation until his death, March 9, 1869. During his ministry of nineteen years here he did much to recover and strengthen the congregation, baptizing one hundred and ninety-two persons. His successor was the present pastor, Rev. N. B. Baldwin, formerly of Philadelphia, who resides near by on a farm.

Besides the lot of ground mentioned, the church has also in possession about thirty acres, with a dwelling-house erected thereon and some other buildings. Dr. John N. Thomas left by will for the benefit of the society the sum of fifteen hundred dollars. In 1816 the second church was taken down, and in its place another erected of stone, fifty by fifty-five feet, also with a gallery. In the summer of 1883 the edifice was remodeled and somewhat enlarged, its exterior neatly plastered, pointed arched windows, and a slate roof being introduced, and the interior improved, at a cost of four thousand dollars. Its surroundings are shady and attractive, with ample shedding for horses and wagons. The graveyard extends over several acres, is neatly kept, and, as may be well expected after being used over one hundred and sixty years for this purpose, contains numerous interments. It is not likely that they will soon be restricted here in space, for the entire tract contains eight or ten acres.

In September, 1883, the writer spent several hours in this graveyard examining the various inscriptions. The earliest stone found has on it "M. P., 1719," the next that of "Walter Evans, who died Jan. 17, 1729, aged 6 years," then "I. D., 1739, 14," followed by one of 1740 and another of 1741. Four pastors of the church are buried here,—namely, Benjamin Griffith, Joshua Jones, Silas Hough and George Higgins. Mr. Hough died May 14, 1822, aged fifty-eight years. Two deacons have attained to a goodly age,—Joseph Lunn, who died May 31, 1847, in his ninety-first year, and Amos Griffiths, November 17, 1863, aged nearly ninety-three years. The following family names are copied from the tombstones, and are inserted here for the benefit of genealogists who may desire to secure additional information in this direction: King, Reiner, Pennington, Trewig, Vansant, Cadwallader, Collum, Griffith, Jenkins, Stratton, Cozens, Walker, Sutch, Hough, Lunn, Drake, Vanneman, Heaton, Otter, Evans, Morgan, Broug, Detweiler, Harrar, Rhoades, Harris, Hood, Gulick, Stagner, Halderman, Hoxworth, Mallet, Leech, Kile, Mathias, Streper, Rockafellow, Stewart, Bates, Whitcom, Lowry, Stuckert, Gordon, Slight, Barthe, Sellers, Haas, Davis, Swallow, Kenderdine, Bartlett, Evans, Huggett, Higgins, Hartman, Pearson, Ewing, Knight, Swank, Hartel, Rentz, Davison, Young, Wright, Sims, Roberts, Solliday, Fry, Yothers, Todd, Hoffman, Bush, Boyd, Hughs, Wanklin, Reaver, Banes, Lukens, Milligan, Yocum, Stagner, Medary, Bartleson, Beam, Guy, Brady, Howell, Rosenberger, Dunn, Owen, Humphrey, Bryan and Rees. Over one-third of these can now be safely set down as of German origin. Among the notable occurrences, we learn from the journal of the Rev. George Whitefield that he came here from the Neshaminy Church April 24, 1740, and "was hospitably entertained."

NOTE.—The Rev. Joseph Mathias, of Hilltown, who died March 11, 1851, aged nearly seventy-three, and in the ministry over forty-four years, was long an assiduous collector of materials for a history of the Baptist Churches of the surrounding section. Through the kindness of his son, the late John N. Mathias, of Carversville, his manuscripts were loaned us in 1857, and from them we made copious extracts, a portion of which are incorporated in the above sketch. We must also acknowledge some aid from Edward Mathews' article on this church published in the North Wales Record of April 6, 1868.

The post-office was established here about 1819, with John Todd as postmaster. He was succeeded by Matthias Haldeman. Where is now the dwelling-house of Philip Willard stood, before the Revolution, an inn, called the "Duke of Cumberland," which was kept as early as 1758. Father Muhlenberg, during the Revolution, complains that there was then no hotel in the place, while before, when there was not one-half as much travel, the village boasted of three public-houses.

Collegeville, or Freeland, as the same village is indiscriminately called, and Perkiomen Bridge, as it was formerly known, is eight miles north of Norristown, and one of the most beautiful villages of the county. Perkiomen Bridge is the oldest name, dating back to 1799, the time of the completion of the stone bridge across the Perkiomen at that place. The first post-office was established here in 1847. Edward Evans was appointed postmaster, and the office named Perkiomen Bridge. In 1848, Henry A. Hunsicker built a boarding-school for young men. This he called Freeland Seminary of Perkiomen Bridge. Soon the village around the school took its name from its school, and was called Freeland.

In 1861 the post-office of Perkiomen Bridge was removed to the store of Frank M. Hobson, who was appointed postmaster. The following year the name of the post-office was changed to Freeland.

About 1855 an effort was made to have this village called Townsend, in honor of Samuel Townsend, who had removed from Philadelphia, and in the county map published about this time the village is called Townsend; but this name did not last long.

When the Perkiomen Railroad was opened there was a bitter fight over the name of the station. The railroad company finally decided to give a new name to their station, and accordingly called it Collegeville. In 1869 the post-office was removed to the station and the name changed to Collegeville. Since that time a bitter fight for the name of the village has been waged, each person calling the village the name best suiting his fancy.

The village of Port Providence was first known as "Jacobs." In 1820, Thomas Jones was an extensive lumber dealer in West Chester; he bought land here and built a landing to unload lumber coming by the canal. From this fact it was called Lumberville, which name it retained for many years. The people, desiring a post-office, found "Lumberville" already appropriated, and then determined to call the post-office Port Providence, which name soon attached itself also to the village.

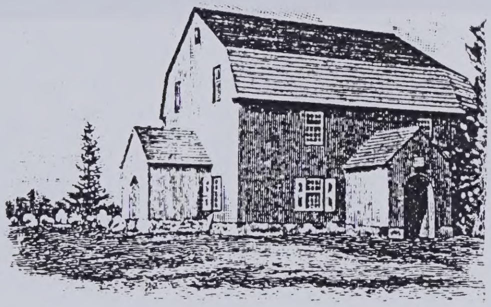
Mont Clare, or Quincyville, is situated just opposite the borough of Phœnixville, Chester Co. Its residents are mostly engaged in business or work in the adjoining borough. There is now a station of the Pennsylvania Schuylkill Valley Railroad established here, called Mont Clare Station.

The opening of the Perkiomen Railroad is responsible for establishing three new villages in the township, viz.: Oaks, Arcola and Yerkes. The people in the vicinity asked that their station be named Oakland. The railroad company named it simply Oaks, as there was another station in the State of the name suggested. A post-office is now here of the same name. Arcola was first known as "Water-Tank," next as "Doe Run" Station, but lately named Arcola, after the large mills of Messrs. Wetherill & Co. There is a very small village here. "Yerkes" is so called after Mr. Isaac Yerkes, a respectable citizen, and the owner of the land on which the station was established. Quite a village is now growing up around it, with a post-office of the same name recently established.

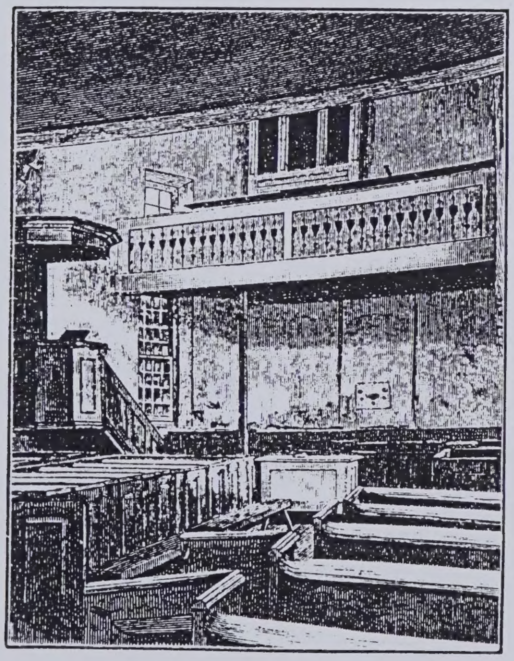
John Robinson undertook, in 1763, to locate one of the largest towns of Eastern Pennsylvania in the township of Providence. Robinson had made great preparations for the sale of lots, offering three hundred and fifty lots at public sale, on February 10, 1763. Quite a number were sold. The following year another one hundred lots were offered. This town was entirely upon paper. On its site are now a few houses and one store, called Providence Square, situated midway between Collegeville and Phœnixville.

The churches of Upper Providence are the following: Augustus Lutheran, St. Luke's Reformed, Evangelical, Mennonite, Friends', Dunkard, Trinity Christian and Episcopalian.

The Augustus Lutheran Church, Trappe, is the most noted in the township. The old church building, erected in 1743, is still standing in a good state of preservation. Ten years before this time the Lutheran congregation of Providence was organized. In 1732, John Christian Schultz became the first pastor, and remained one year, leaving as a successor John Casper Stoever. In 1742 the Rev. Henry Melchior Muhlenberg arrived from Germany, and became the pastor, and built the church in 1743. He has since become widely known as the founder of the Lutheran Church in America, and the Trappe Church as the oldest Lutheran Church in America, now standing. The corner-stone was laid May 2, 1743. The first service was held therein on September 12th, but it was not until October 6, 1745, that the church was dedicated. Three negroes were baptized on that occasion. The General Synod of the colonies met in this church on June 17, 1750. On October 7, 1787, Dr. Muhlenberg died, and his honored ashes now repose immediately in the rear of the old church. The congregation continued to worship in this building until the 6th of November, 1853, when the present large brick building was dedicated. Since that time the old church was used for Sunday-school purposes until quite recently. The present structure was recently entirely remodeled, making it a two-story building. This improvement was made under the pastorate of the present incumbent, Rev. O. P. Smith. Adjoining the church is the graveyard, containing numerous tombstones.



EXTERIOR OF OLD TRAPPE CHURCH.



INTERIOR OF OLD TRAPPE CHURCH.

Among the distinguished dead here buried can be mentioned Rev. Dr. Henry M. Muhlenberg, General Peter Muhlenberg, Hon. Frederick A. Muhlenberg, Governor Francis R. Shunk, Hon. Jacob Fry and Joseph Royer. The principal family names are Allabaugh, Bean, Boyer, Beck, Buckwalter, Culp, Casselberry, Custer, Cressman, Dehaven, Emerich, Fry, Garber. Goodwin, Gross, Heebner, Hallman, Isett, Kugler, Longaker, Mausteller, Miller, Moyer, Nieman, Pennypacker, Pawling, Prizer, Rambo, Royer, Rittenhouse, Reiff, Rawn, Spare, Shupe, Stetler, Schrack, Trumbauer, Wald, Walter and Young. The pastors of this church have been as follows: 1732, John Christian Schultz; 1733, John Casper Stoever; 1742, Henry M. Muhlenberg; 1765, John L. Voigt; 1793, Frederick G. Weinland; 1809, J. P. Hecht; 1814, Henry A. Geissenhainer; 1821, Frederick W. Geissenhainer; 1823, Frederick W. Geissenhainer, Jr.; 1827, Jacob Wampole; 1834, John W. Richards; 1838, Henry S. Miller; 1853, G. A. Wentzel; 1854, A. S. Link; 1859, G. Sill; 1864, John Kohler; 1874, O. P. Smith.

Rev. Oliver Peter Smith, A.M., son of Frederick and Mary Smith, was born September 4, 1848, at New Tripoli, Lehigh Co., Pa., and is the youngest of eight children. His early instruction was received from his father, who was then teacher of the public school of that place, and at the age of ten years his brother, Theodore, became his tutor. In his fourteenth year his father, not having employment for him at home nor means to send him away to school, gave him the privilege of starting in life for himself. At the age of fifteen he was appointed teacher of one of the public schools of his native township, Lynn, and after the close of the school term he entered the Military and Collegiate Institute at Allentown, Pa., with a view to preparation for college, teaching in winter to meet his expenses. In the fall of 1867 he entered Muhlenberg College as a member of the freshman class, having just recovered from a severe attack of typhoid fever. He graduated in June, 1871, having during his college course embraced every available opportunity to earn money, that the outlay of his course might be met. For one year, while at college, he filled an appointment under the school board of Allentown as instructor of German in the public schools. In the fall of 1871 the subject of this sketch entered the Theological Seminary of the Evangelical Lutheran Church at Philadelphia, and finished his three years' theological course in the spring of 1874, teaching during the summer vacations and preparing young men for college. He was ordained as minister of the Evangelical Lutheran Church at Lancaster, Pa., June 3d. Having received a call from the Trappe charge, composed of Augustus congregation (Trappe), St. James' congregation (Limerick) and Jerusalem congregation (Schwenksville), he was installed as pastor of the charge in the Trappe Church the Sunday following his ordination, of which charge he is still pastor. Here has been spent, thus far, the most useful part of his life laboring earnestly and zealously in the pulpit and out of it for the salvation of souls and the glory of Christ, the head of the church. The congregations have doubled in membership through his pastorate, church properties greatly improved and the liberality of the people advanced. The church at the Trappe is one of the finest houses of worship in the county, and Augustus congregation is one of the oldest and most important Lutheran congregations in this country, having had for its first regular pastor H. M. Muhlenberg, D.D., the father of Lutheranism in America. Among the list of the pastors of this congregation are the following names well known in the seventy perches, and along the latter about two hundred and sixty perches. He was naturalized at the April sessions of Supreme Court, 1743. Balthasar and Rosina, his wife, had two children,—Christopher, died December 28, 1756; George, born September 22, 1737. Rosina Heydrick died October 23, 1738. Balthasar Heydrick married (second) Maria, daughter of Christopher Hoffrichter, May 15, 1741. Their children were Abraham, born November 5, 1742; Susanna, born October 5, 1745; Melchior, born October 23, 1747; Balthasar, born December 29, 1750 (was a captain in the Revolutionary war). Balthasar Heydrick died January 12, 1753.

George Heebner, also a member of the Schwenkfelder colony of 1734, settled immediately in Frederick. On January 28, 1736, jointly with Henry Antes, he purchased twenty-eight acres of land in New Hanover township, for the better accommodation of a grist-mill which had been erected upon the adjoining land, in Frederick township, of Henry Antes. November 5, 1736, he bought seventy-five and three-quarters acres in New Hanover township, on the Frederick township line. February 24, 1741, he purchased one hundred acres in Frederick township previously held by George Haan. He was naturalized May 19, 1739. January 14 and 15, 1742, a religious conference, led by Count Zinzendorf, was held at his house. He died November 3, 1773. He left a legacy of forty pounds lawful money of Pennsylvania to the son of his sister Mary, in Germany, "for a remembrance of his uncle." His sister was married to one J. Christopher Nicolai, at Görlitz, in Lusatia, gardener. One-tenth of the remainder of his estate he gave "to the school erected among the Religious Society called Schwenkfeldians, to be paid to the trustees of the school, to be applied by them to such purposes as the plan and articles of the school direct." One-tenth of his estate was also "to be paid into the alms-box of the people called Schwenkfeldians towards the relief of the poor among said people." George Heebner and Rosina Kriebel were married November 22, 1738, and had Melchior, born July 2, 1742, died December 21, 1744. Rosina Heebner died July 25, 1745. He married, May 16, 1749, Susanna Schultz, who died November 2, 1772, without issue.

John Heebner, a brother of George Heebner, also came with the Schwenkfelder colony. Before March 22, 1738, he acquired land in Frederick township, near Society Run. His wife's name was Maria. Their children were Hans, Melchior (who married February 11, 1752, and settled in Worcester township), Anna. John Heebner, while assisting his son, Melchier, in taking in the second crop of hay, fell from the wagon, and of the injuries received he died September 17, 1754.

Daniel Christman, who arrived in Pennsylvania September 5, 1730, bought of Martin Funk and Magdalena, his wife, on March 27, 1735, one hundred acres, and the following day sixty acres. These tracts were located in Frederick township and had been purchased by Martin Funk previous to March 1, 1726; they were part of the five hundred acres bought by Michael Herger, February 7, 1717. Daniel Christman belonged to the Lutheran Church; he contributed five shillings towards paying for a bell for New Hanover Lutheran Church in 1748. His children were Anna Ella, married in December, 1749, Johannes Grob, who lived in Coventry township, Chester Co.; Felix, born in 1733, who moved to Vincent township, Chester Co.; Elizabeth, born in 1734; Jacob, born in 1737, died in Frederick township February 27, 1804; George, born 1739, a joiner, lived in Frederick township; Henry, born 1744, a saddler, lived in Vincent township.

The early settlers were mostly Germans. Their descendants and the present inhabitants retain the German language in the modified form known as the Pennsylvania-German dialect.

NON ASSOCIATORS

MONTGOMERY COUNTY, PENNSYLVANIA

1778 - 1779

Unrest had developed in the Colonies by the extreme taxation which was imposed upon the inhabitants by the British Parliament.

The Colonist argument was "did they have the right to impose these taxes to support a standing army in America".

Grievance upon grievance prevailed and soon an invitation was issued to all the Colonial Assemblies to consider them. They then united and formed the First Continental Congress.

From this Congress, which met in Pennsylvania, the Council of Safety was formed and County Militias came into being. These were considered the ASSOCIATORS. Those that opposed military rule were listed as NON ASSOCIATORS. Many of these were the German pioneers, who upon entering this country took the Oath of Allegiance to the British Crown, since the Colonies were under that rule and thought that sufficient. Others refused for religious reasons. The percentage of these people was small and while refusing to take the Oath and be part of the County Militias, they did support the new government in other ways as history tells us.

The following is the list of those who refused to take the oath in 1778-1779:

HISTORY

OF KUGLER

MONTGOMERY COUNTY,

PENNSYLVANIA.

EDITED BY

THEODORE W. BEAN.

PART TWO

PHILADELPHIA:
EVERTS & PECK.

The handsome stone bridge over Society Run, above Zieglerville, was built by the county commissioners in 1853. A stone bridge over the same stream at the point where it is crossed by the road from Perkiomenville to Keeler's church was built about forty years ago.

Taverns.—As early as 1760, George Wickert kept a tavern in the lower part of the township. A hundred years ago a tavern was kept by a man named Hevener on the road from Perkiomenville to Keeler's church near where Old Goshenhoppen Run crosses. In 1797, Benjamin Schneider was recommended to the court for license. The Green Tree Tavern was owned by Schneider; it has been the place for holding elections from time immemorial; and has been kept by many persons, the most widely-known of whom was Joseph Keeler, who conducted it more than forty years ago. George Weidman was recommended for license in 1772, and from 1777 to 1782; Valentine Boyer, in 1779; Jacob Kugler, in 1783 and 1785.

Post-Offices.—Frederick township has within its borders six post-offices, and enjoys daily mail communication with all points.

Frederick post-office, the first, was established in 1837, with Joseph Keeler as postmaster, whose compensation for that year was $4.61. In 1839, Jonathan Nyce became postmaster, holding the position until 1855, when Abraham Freyer succeeded him. In 1863, C. S. Stetler was appointed postmaster, and he retains the office at this date. For the year ending June 30, 1883, the compensation of the postmaster, was $77.76.

Perkiomenville post-office was established August 25, 1854, with Isaac Rahn as postmaster. William Ziegler is the present incumbent. For 1883 the compensation was $110.53.

Zieglerville post-office was established October 11, 1858, with Joseph Ganser as postmaster. V. G. Prizer now holds the office; compensation in 1883, $114.88.

Klein's post-office, at Frederick Station, on the Perkiomen Railroad, is in charge of Jacob W. Klein as postmaster; compensation in 1883, $78.74.

Obelisk post-office, on the Great road, in the central portion of the township, was established about 1881. A. Moyer is postmaster; compensation in 1883, $23.21.

Delphi post-office, at Zieglerville Station, on the Perkiomen Railroad, was established in 1884. Its postmaster is Daniel W. Stetler.

Revolutionary War.—The record of the part taken in the Revolutionary struggle by Frederick township is imperfectly preserved. We know that after the defeat of our armies at the battles of Brandywine and Germantown, and during the time that Washington had his headquarters at Valley Forge, this region was largely drawn upon for needed supplies, and its people were called upon to contribute assistance and render important services. The larger farmers, if not regularly connected with the army, were impressed, with their teams, into the service when occasion demanded, to transport ammunition, stores and wounded; of the last named, so the story goes, a Frederick farmer hauled a load all the way from the field at Brandywine to the hospital at Bethlehem. During the winter of 1777–78, Washington spent several days under the friendly roof of Colonel Frederick Antes, in Frederick township, and every morning the Father of his Country walked over to neighbor Samuel Bertolet's house to drink the water of a noted mineral spring.

The names of a portion of the persons enrolled in Captain Michael Dotterer's company,—unfortunately the list is incomplete,—attached to the Sixth Battalion of Philadelphia County militia, in 1777 and 1778, are given below, some of the members of this company performed duty entitling them to pay. Colonel William Antes, Esq., a sub-lieutenant for the county of Philadelphia, paid Captain Michael Dotterer £321 10*s*., amount of his pay-roll, February 28, 1778, No. 3:

Peter Acker, Francis Bart, Jacob Belts, Samuel Berto let, Conrad Bick hart, Henry Boyer, Jacob Boyer, Philip Boyer, Valentine Boyer, William Boyer, Jacob Christman, Jacob Detweiler, Conrad Dieffenbacher, John Dotterer, John Geist, Mathias Geist, John Hiltebidel, Henry Hollobush, Jost Hollobush, Daniel Krause, Henry Krause, Michael Krause, Michael Kuntz, Francis Leidig, Leonard Leidig, John Ley, George Michael, Zacharias Nyce, John Reimer, Ludwig Reimer, Henry Sassaman, Gottfried Saylor, Peter Saylor, George Schwenk, Jacob Schwenk, George Smith, Charles Solner, Christian Stetler, Henry Stetler, Jacob Stetler, Jacob Underkoffler, Henry Werner, Jeremiah Wiser, Jacob Zieber, John Zieber.

The War of 1812.—In the month of July, 1814, Governor Snyder called out the Pennsylvania militia to oppose the advance of the British upon Philadelphia. Captain George Sensenderfer, of the Montgomery Greens, and Captain Jacob Freyer, of the Montgomery Blues, both of Falkner Swamp, with all possible haste marched their men to Flourtown. Here they were incorporated into Colonel Humphrey's regiment of riflemen, of which Philip Boyer was major, after which they pushed on to Philadelphia, and thence to Camp Dupont, on the Delaware. On the 24th of December, 1814, they were mustered, inspected and dismissed. There was much suffering from cold experienced by the soldiers, who had left their homes in warm weather and had not been supplied with winter clothing. Among those from Frederick township were the following in Captain Freyer's company:

Jacob Bartman, Samuel Detwiler, Conrad Dotterer, John Dotterer, Samuel Esterline (bugler), John Gougler, George Hauck, Jacob Hunsberger, Lewis Jones, Leonard Schuler, Henry Yost, John Yost, Peter Yost.

War of the Rebellion.—During the late civil war, 1861–65, the following Frederick township men volunteered their services to the United States government.

Henry S. Acker, John C. Anderson, Daniel Bardman, Jacob Batzel, Abraham Bergey, John Berry, Jones Boyer, Peter S. Boyer, Jacob W. Dechant, Henry Edelman, Aaron Faust, John E. Faust, Mahlon Faust, Isaac Freese, Leopold Gastinger, Jacob S. Gross, John W. Hauck, Nathan

seventy perches, and along the latter about two hundred and sixty perches. He was naturalized at the April sessions of Supreme Court, 1743. Balthasar and Rosina, his wife, had two children,—Christopher, died December 28, 1756; George, born September 22, 1737. Rosina Heydrick died October 23, 1738. Balthasar Heydrick married (second) Maria, daughter of Christopher Hoffrichter, May 15, 1741. Their children were Abraham, born November 5, 1742; Susanna, born October 5, 1745; Melchior, born October 23, 1747; Balthasar, born December 29, 1750 (was a captain in the Revolutionary war). Balthasar Heydrick died January 12, 1753.

George Heebner, also a member of the Schwenkfelder colony of 1734, settled immediately in Frederick. On January 28, 1736, jointly with Henry Antes, he purchased twenty-eight acres of land in New Hanover township, for the better accommodation of a grist-mill which had been erected upon the adjoining land, in Frederick township, of Henry Antes. November 5, 1736, he bought seventy-five and three-quarters acres in New Hanover township, on the Frederick township line. February 24, 1741, he purchased one hundred acres in Frederick township previously held by George Haan. He was naturalized May 19, 1739. January 14 and 15, 1742, a religious conference, led by Count Zinzendorf, was held at his house. He died November 3, 1773. He left a legacy of forty pounds lawful money of Pennsylvania to the son of his sister Mary, in Germany, "for a remembrance of his uncle." His sister was married to one J. Christopher Nicolai, at Görlitz, in Lusatia, gardener. One-tenth of the remainder of his estate he gave "to the school erected among the Religious Society called Schwenkfeldians, to be paid to the trustees of the school, to be applied by them to such purposes as the plan and articles of the school direct." One-tenth of his estate was also "to be paid into the alms-box of the people called Schwenkfeldians towards the relief of the poor among said people." George Heebner and Rosina Kriebel were married November 22, 1738, and had Melchior, born July 2, 1742, died December 21, 1744. Rosina Heebner died July 25, 1745. He married, May 16, 1749, Susanna Schultz, who died November 2, 1772, without issue.

John Heebner, a brother of George Heebner, also came with the Schwenkfelder colony. Before March 22, 1738, he acquired land in Frederick township, near Society Run. His wife's name was Maria. Their children were Hans, Melchior (who married February 11, 1752, and settled in Worcester township), Anna. John Heebner, while assisting his son, Melchier, in taking in the second crop of hay, fell from the wagon, and of the injuries received he died September 17, 1754.

Daniel Christman, who arrived in Pennsylvania September 5, 1730, bought of Martin Funk and Magdalena, his wife, on March 27, 1735, one hundred acres, and the following day sixty acres. These tracts were located in Frederick township and had been purchased by Martin Funk previous to March 1, 1726; they were part of the five hundred acres bought by Michael Herger, February 7, 1717. Daniel Christman belonged to the Lutheran Church; he contributed five shillings towards paying for a bell for New Hanover Lutheran Church in 1748. His children were Anna Ella, married in December, 1749, Johannes Grob, who lived in Coventry township, Chester Co.; Felix, born in 1733, who moved to Vincent township, Chester Co.; Elizabeth, born in 1734; Jacob, born in 1737, died in Frederick township February 27, 1804; George, born 1739, a joiner, lived in Frederick township; Henry, born 1744, a saddler, lived in Vincent township.

The early settlers were mostly Germans. Their descendants and the present inhabitants retain the German language in the modified form known as the Pennsylvania-German dialect.

there is no homogeneity in Montgomery County records, there appear to be inconsistencies in this text. In most of the records that were used the date of birth was recorded and that was the date included here. In other records the recorded date was the day the infant was baptized. Those dates were entered here with notation bp. Quakers recorded dates of birth only and those dates were recorded in an unconventional way, that is, the month was written in numeric form, i.e., 4 7mo 1776, normally written 4 July 1776.

Two pastoral records were used, the registers of John Casper Stoever and Rev. Henry Melchior Muhlenberg. Because the place of baptism is given in Rev. Stoever's records it was possible to include here only those baptisms that occurred in Montgomery County. The published work of Rev. Stoever's accounts omitted the initial pages of his records. Those omited records were examined and the births pertinent to this text were included.

Rev. Henry Melchior Muhlenberg kept a daily diary or journal that has been published. Interspersed throughout his journal are baptisms that he preformed over a number of years, many of which were never recorded in church records. The births used for this work were found in volume three of his journals covering the years 1777 to 1787.

In several church records the date recorded in the original record was the day the child was baptized and in lieu of a date of birth the child's age was given. In those instances a calculated date of birth was recorded here based on the child's age and was entered as ca Jul 1776.

The format used for each birth record should be fairly obvious. The initial name listed is the child's first name. The names following the date of birth are the names of the father and mother. The number identifies the church record where that birth record was found. A name in parenthesis following the mother's name is her surname. The notation bp after the child's name signifies the date following is the date of baptism.

Infant	Date of Birth or baptism	Father	Mother	Record
Frack
Heinrich	27 Mar 1763	Jacob	Christina (Krebs)	9
Jacob	bp 16 Apr 1748	Daniel	Margaret	7

In several instances question marks appear in the text. In some cases those question marks were placed there by me because of my inability to read the original text. In other instances they were in the typed or handwritten translations or copies of the original text and were placed there by the person who made the transcription or translation from the original. They undoubtedly mean the translator/transcriber also had difficulty in reading and/or translating certain names.

Other notes and abbreviations found in the original records include the designation for twin, shortened here to tw, and ill for illegitimate. Researchers will find evidence for the birth of twins in these records beyond those identified by tw. The twin designation was used or copied here only when it was found in the source record.

COMMEMORATIVE BIOGRAPHICAL RECORD
Carroll, Ohio

Chicago: J.H. Beers + Co, 1891

Leesburg, Carroll County, the only daughter of John and M. Anne (Smith) Clark. Her paternal grandparents were Jesse and Jane (Grant) Clark, who in 1810 came from near Winchester, Va., and settled near Leesburg. Their sons, John, William, Robert and Grant, all lived and died in or near Leesburg; three of the daughters—Sarah, Elizabeth and Maria—have died, Frances Rouse being the only one now (1891) living. The maternal grandparents of Mary Clark Steeves were Russell Smith and Priscilla (Basil) Smith, of St. Charles County, Md. In 1818 Henry Smith and his wife, Anne (Russell), came from Maryland to Ohio, where two of their sons, James and Wilmer, had entered land near Leesburg. With them they brought their eldest grandchild, Anne (whose father had died in Maryland), leaving the other child, Mary, with the widowed mother; Thomas S. and S. Galon, their other sons, soon followed. In 1829 John Clark and Anne Smith were married, and of their four children—Luther, Lemuel, William Russell and Mary Jane—the two eldest died in youth; William Russell succeeded his father in the ownership of a carriage factory, becoming a successful business man in Leesburg, where he died in April, 1875; his wife (formerly Miss Maggie Swaney), survived him till October, 1876; his eldest son, Charles M., died in Chattanooga, Tenn., in October, 1882; three children remain, viz.: Miss Clara H., J. Howard and W. O. Mrs. John Clark died in January, 1881, Mr. Clark in January, 1882.

Early in life Mary J. (Clark) Steeves developed a love for teaching, and has since 1863 made it her chosen profession. Her first teaching was in Clark's district, where she taught five terms. As a student teacher she entered Rural Seminary in 1864, graduated in 1866, remaining till 1867. Since then two years were spent in Leesville graded schools, two in Scio College, six in New Castle College, New Castle, Penn., and the last ten years in Harlem Springs College. Her long life in school work has only increased her love for the profession. She has kept pace with the advancement, and is actively and earnestly keeping up interest in educational matters. Descended from a long line of Methodist families, she is methodistic in religious belief. Having graduated in Chautauqua Sunday-school normal course in 1879, she is a Sunday-school worker, making the most of opportunities, and thus helping the cause.

DANIEL SEEMANN. The family which this gentleman represents originated in Germany, where they were engaged in agriculture. John Seemann, the grandfather of our subject, reared a family of five daughters and two sons, of whom Henry, the father of our subject, was born in Germany, July 12, 1808, and in 1833 came with his parents and their family to Ohio, where they settled on a small farm in Tuscarawas County. Soon after arriving Henry married a resident of the county, named Amaker, who died early, leaving three children, viz.: Frederick, John H. and George A. For his second wife Henry wedded Mary Kugler, daughter of Peter Kugler, a native of Alsace, Germany, who married Mary Worner, and had two children, Jacob P. and Mary. He came to Ohio in 1831, and purchased a farm in Tuscarawas County, on which he remained until 1849, when he moved to Carroll County, where he passed the remainder of his life. He was a member of the Reformed Lutheran Church, and in politics a Democrat.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Seemann remained in Tuscarawas County until 1855, when they came to Carroll County, and purchased a farm in Rose Township. Their children were named as follows: Jacob, Peter, Mary M. (Mrs. John E. Rice), Daniel, Franklin, Louisa (deceased), Charles (an attorney at law in Canton, Ohio), Loue, Solomon W. (a minister of the Reformed Church at Tiffin, Ohio), Calvin (a student at the Cincinnati Law School), Emanuel and Alice. Henry Seemann was a Democrat, and took an active part in the management of local politics. For many years he was an elder and deacon in the Reformed Church, was a self-made man, resides, in Dickinson Township, where he has a fine farm of 173 acres, being part of the homesteads of both families. On this farm David Line has erected a handsome brick residence and very complete and substantial farm buildings. To our subject and wife were born five children: James Edwin, William D., Samuel A., Marion Myers, and Sarah Ella. Mrs. Line died November 12, 1876. She was a sincere Christian, a devoted wife and mother, and her death was mourned by a large circle of friends. She was a member of the Presbyterian Church. Mr. Line and all his sons are members of the First Presbyterian Church at Carlisle, Penn. Our subject devotes a great deal of attention to the education of his children, and takes a deep interest in all enterprises for the mental and moral improvement of the community. In politics he is a Republican.

EMANUEL C. LINE, farmer, P. O. Carlisle, was born on the farm where he now resides, in Dickinson Township, this county, May 8, 1837. His father, Geo. L. Line, was a son of John Line, and a grandson of George Line, the original founder of the family in this county. John Line married Barbara Ann Le Fevre, and to them were born five children, viz.: George L., John (deceased), Salome (deceased), Mrs. Catherine Tritt (deceased), and Mrs. Mary Ann Coulter. George L. Line married his second cousin, Miss Maria Line (daughter of Emanuel Line, and granddaughter of William Line), and they settled on the family homestead, which was purchased, in 1778, by George Line (grandfather of George L.) from Gen. John Armstrong, and has been in the possession of the family for four generations. The old mansion residence, built of stone, was erected by Gen. Armstrong, in 1768, and is still occupied. Here Mr. and Mrs. George L. Line resided until their death. Their children are as follows: Mrs. Elizabeth M. Hemminger, John A., Emanuel C. and Abram L. Mrs. George L. Line died November 27, 1869, and Mr. Line died November 5, 1885, aged eighty years, ten months and ten days. He was a useful and highly respected citizen, and the memory of this couple is cherished by a large circle of relatives and friends. Emanuel C. Line remained on the mansion farm, and took care of his parents in their old age. He now owns here a fine property of 101 acres of well-improved land.

JACOB ZITZER LINE, farmer, P. O. Carlisle, was born in Dickinson Township, this county, September 22, 1854. The father of these children died September 9, 1877, and the mother now resides in Carlisle, Penn. Jacob Zitzer Line married, December 28, 1876, Jane Margaret Lindsey, a native of West Pennsborough Township, this county, and a daughter of John F. and Rachel (Woodburn) Lindsey, and after their marriage they settled on their present farm, where they have 108 acres of fertile and well improved land. To them have been born the following children: Mervin Lindsey, George Valentine and Leroy Zitzer. Mr. Line is a member of the Evangelical Association, his wife being a member of the First Presbyterian Church at Carlisle. He is earnestly devoted to the cause of literature and education, and is a member of the "Pansy" class of the Chautauqua Literary and Scientific Circle. REV. JACOB HOLLINGER, minister and retired farmer, P. O. Mooredale, was born in Monroe Township, this county, August 22, 1827. His great-grandfather came from Switzerland to America in a very early day, and his grandfather, Jacob Hollinger, was born in America. Daniel Hollinger (father of our subject), a native of York County, Penn., married Catherine Dillinger, also a native of York County. Immediately after marriage they settled in Monroe Township, this county. Of their eleven children nine grew to maturity and six are now living: Daniel, in Plympton, Kas.; Jacob; John, in Russell, Kas.; Mrs. Elizabeth Hutchison; Mrs. Catherine Eckert; and Mrs Rebecca Martin. The father of these children departed this life in 1859, and his widow survived until 1872. He was a life-long minister of the German Baptist Church, and five of his sons, following in their father's footsteps, became ministers of the gospel. He was an upright pioneer, and his memory is cherished and honored by all who knew him. Rev. Jacob Hollinger, the subject of this sketch, was married, October 4, 1849, to Mary A. Sheaffer, a native of Monroe Township, this county, where her parents, Jacob and Elizabeth Sheaffer resided until their death. After their marriage, Rev. Jacob Hollinger and his wife settled in Dickinson Township, this county, and in 1852 they moved to South Middleton Township, where they resided until 1861, then returned to Dickinson Township, and have since resided here. By industry and good management they have acquired a fine farm of 130 acres of well improved farm land, and also own thirty-five acres of timbered land on South Mountain. To them have been born eleven children, seven of whom are now living: John Edward, George William, Mrs. Florence Hertzler, Mrs. Elizabeth Myers, Jacob S., Mrs. Anna Mary Cooper, and Alice Eva. Line, the subject of this sketch, married, October 21, 1863, Sarah H. McMath, a native of Carlisle, and daughter of the well-known merchant, James McMath, of Scotch-Irish descent. Since their marriage, Mr. and Mrs. Line have resided on their present farm, which descended to him from his mother's branch of the Line family, and has been in the possession of the family for the last fifty years; it is a fine property of 120 acres of fertile and well improved land, and includes one of the finest picnic grounds in the county. To our subject and wife have been born two children: George L. and Laura Augusta. Mr- Line enlisted, in July, 1862, in Company A, One Hundred and Thirtieth Regiment Pennsylvania Volunteer Infantry. He was assigned to the Army of the Potomac, and served in the historic campaigns in Virginia and Maryland; he took part in the hard-fought battles of South Mountain, Antietam, Fredericksburg and Chancellorsville; he received a slight wound at Antietam, and was honorably discharged in May, 1863, after having risen, by promotion, to the rank of fourth sergeant. In 1639 Thomas Stanton was called son-in-law of "Dr. Thomas Lord".

The ship list for the emigration stated:
"29 Aprilis 1635. These vnder written names are to be transported to New England imbarqued in ye Elizabeth & Ann. Roger Coopr. Mr. The P'ties have brought Certificated from the Minister of the P'ish and Justice of Peace of their conformitie to the orders and discipline of ye Church of England and yt they are no Subsedy men."

The listing for the Lord family was this: "Thomas Lord, smith, age 50, and Dorothy Lord, uxor, age 46; children, Thomas, 16, Ann, 14; William, 12; John 10 Robert, 9; Aymie, 6; and Dorothy, 4." Unexplained is the fact that the ages of the children from other records ranged from two to six years older. Here is a comparison:

Ann	14	20
William	12	16

It seems that his son Richard had come to New England as early as 1632 (age ca. 20/21) and established himself at Cambridge, Mass. (MC CORMICK, SAVAGE) Savage suggested that "perhaps his father had sent him to look out for the most desirable place for his friends, Gov. Haynes and Rev. Thomas Hooker," who came in 1633 with two hundred others of importance to the colony. However, another conjecture is that Richard was caught with the fever of adventure. In any case Thomas Lord located in Cambridge for about a year, then in the company of Rev Hooker made the "memorable pilgrimage" to Hartford, CT. (McCormick). The family was wealthy and prominent. Some of the children were sent to England be educated.

Thomas Lord was one of the original proprietors and settlers of Hartford, CT. A memorial to the founders, situated behind the First Congregational Church Hartford, in the old burial ground, is a granite shaft, including the name of Thomas Lord and his son, Richard. His home lot in 1639 was on the highway on the bank of Little River, now Wells St. Sons Richard and Thomas had adjacent lots and that area of Hartford is still (1957) called "Lord's Hill" (McCormick

Thomas Lord was a merchant and engaged in trading. He also owned a half-interest in a mill near his home. The description of the Burnham estate mentions that Mr. Burnham had a half-interest in a mill with Thomas Lord. His residence brought by his parents to this county, where amid pioneer environments he was reared, sharing in the hardships of frontier life and in the arduous duty of developing a new farm and teaching school in the winter season. He wedded Sarah Geyer, who was born in Montgomery county, Ohio, January 4, 1831. Her father was born in the Shenandoah valley of Virginia, whence he removed to Montgomery county, Ohio, where he followed the occupation of farming, his death occurring in that state. He was twice married, his wives being sisters of the name of Artz. By the first union he had four children: Abraham, Isaac, Sarah, Mary. The children of the second marriage were: Eliza, Catherine and Andrew. Both parents of Mrs. Noah Davenport, Jr., are now deceased. To Noah and Sarah (Geyer) Davenport were born six children: Catherine, deceased; Emma, who is the widow of Albert Garver and lives in Goshen with her mother; Dora Belle and Levi, who have departed this life; Robert of Clinton township; John, also deceased. The daughter Emma began teaching when sixteen years of age and successfully followed that pursuit for sixteen terms, being regarded as a capable instructor of Elkhart county. Noah Davenport, Jr., was called to his final rest May 13, 1894, and his loss was deeply regretted, for he was known as a reliable business man, progressive citizen, an honored pioneer and a devoted husband and father. His widow still survives him and is now living in Goshen.

Robert Wesley Davenport, reared upon the old home farm in Concord township near Dunlaps, began work in the fields almost as soon as old enough to reach the plow handles and through the summer months he aided in the work of the fields, while in the district schools in the winter seasons he acquired his education. He now resides on section 29, Clinton township, where he owns and operates eighty-two acres of rich land, and he is regarded as one of the progressive and energetic farmers of his locality. Everything about the place is kept in good condition and modern machinery facilitates the work, while substantial buildings furnish shelter for grain and stock. In addition to his farming interests he was the originator and founder of the Farmers' Mutual Telephone Company, which began business with forty subscribers, the central being in his own dwelling for three years, and its headquarters later being transferred to Millersburg.

On the 20th of December, 1883, Mr. Davenport was married to Miss Mary J. Cripe, who was born in Clinton township, in 1860. Her paternal grandfather, Samuel Cripe, had seventeen children. By his first wife, Esther Cripe, there were three: Benjamin, Daniel and Jacob. For his second wife he chose Susan Mikesell and they had fourteen children: Joseph, Emanuel, Noah, David, Levi, Catherine, Magdalene, Fanny, Susan, Mary, Solomon, Elizabeth, Aaron and Tobias. With one exception all remained residents of Elkhart county and all reared families but one. Most of them became residents of Clinton township. The grandfather gave to each of his chil-brought by his parents to this county, where amid pioneer environments he was reared, sharing in the hardships of frontier life and in the arduous duty of developing a new farm and teaching school in the winter season. ıal information in this ants were born in ved there. For example, all of the early births recorded in the St. James Protestant Episcopal Church register were for children born in either York or Cumberland counties, and most of the infants named in the personal register of Rev. Cuthberthson were born and baptized elsewhere.

Fourth, it is important to keep in mind this book is not intended as a substitute source for Lancaster County church, meeting, and pastoral records; rather, it is intended to facilitate access to those records. Family historians who are able to determine that one or several of their ancestors were born in Lancaster County should consult the original record or a transcription of that record to verify information obtained from this text and to gather any additional information.

Finally, I would like to thank the Moravian Church in Lititz for their permission to access information from the early registers of the congregation.

RHINELAND EMIGRANTS

Lists of German Settlers in Colonial America

nien befindlich], had made to his deceased brother-in-law Jacob Mühlhauser in Steinsfurt, of which two relatives at Steinsfurt and at Rohrbach had each taken half into custody. Michael Pfauz desired that the legacy be transferred to his brother Andreas Pfauz. The Electoral Palatine Government directed that a relative, Martin Ludwig's widow at Steinsfurt, should transfer her share in the said legacy to Andreas Pfauz. The document is dated at Sinsheim, March 6, 1737.

Hans Michael Pfautz appears in the passenger lists of the Ship William and Sarah, 1727.

[According to records in the Heimatstelle Pfalz, Kaiserslautern, Hans Michael Pfautz, son of Hans Michael Pfautz, village mayor [Schultheiss], was born about 1680/1682, at Rohrbach, Kreis Sinsheim. He was the innkeeper of the Tree Inn [Baumwirt] at Rohrbach, and was married on February 10, 1702, at Steinsfurt, (Church Register, Rohrbach) to Ursula Mühlenhäuser of Steinsfurt, Reformed, daughter of Hans Jacob Mühlenhäuser of Steinsfurt. The emigration party consisted of five persons. On March 22, 1727, Michael Pfautz sold his property [Haus, Hof u. Acker] for 650 florins to the beerbrewer Hans Adam Tracken at Neckargemünd.

Hans Michael Pfautz settled in "Conestoga," i.e., Lancaster County, Pennsylvania. In 1737 his children numbered six: (1) Hans Michael, (2) Hans Jacob, (3) Johannes, (4) Andreas, (5) Anna Margaretha Wiederer, and (6) Anna Barbara Weller. Pfautz's Valley in Perry County, on the west side of the Susquehanna, is named for this family.

For the descendants of Michael Pfautz, see John Eby Pfautz, A Family Record of John Michael Pfautz, A Native of Switzerland, Europe, who emigrated from the Palatinate to America, about the year 1707 [sic] and His Posterity down to the year 1880 (Lancaster: John Baer's Sons, 1881). John Eby Pfautz was mistaken as to the date of his ancestor's emigration.

Other members of the family were found in Frederick Township, Philadelphia (now Montgomery) County, prior to 1734; Jacob Fauts, 100 acres, and Baltus Fauts, 100 acres (Rupp, p. 472). Anna Barbara Pfautz, of Leacock, married Jacob Heller, June 25, 1734 (Stoever Records, p. 54). David Pfautz was carpenter in Lancaster, 1761 (Hocker, p. 97). President Hoover's emigrant ancestor, Andreas Huber, married a Pfautz from Lancaster County. Andreas Huber, born January 23, 1723, at Ellerstadt in the Palatinate, from a family originally from Canton Aargau, Switzerland, came to Pennsylvania on the Ship Two Sisters, arriving at Philadelphia September 9, 1738. He settled in Lancaster County and married Margaret Pfautz circa 1745. Margaret Pfautz was said to be a daughter of Michael Pfautz, emigrant of 1727. In 1746 Andreas and Margaret Huber removed to Carroll County, Maryland, near Little Pipe Creek, and in 1772 went on to North Carolina. Two brothers of Andreas preceded him to America, Johannes, on the Mortonhouse in 1728, and Christian, on the Dragon, 1732. For the Huber-Pfautz family, see Hulda Hoover McLean, Genealogy of the Herbert Hoover Family (Stanford, University: The Hoover Institute on War, Revolution and Peace, 1967), Hoover Institute Bibliographical Series, XXX. A daughter of Andrew Hoover, Elizabeth, born circa 1751, married David Fouts (Phouts) and emigrated to Ohio in 1801.]

25. JOHANN GEORG SCHWAB. According to family tradition, Johann Georg Schwab, emigrant of 1727, came from Wiesloch near Heidelberg, where he was a baker. His name also appears in the passenger lists of the William and Sarah, 1727.

[This emigrant, along with some of the Zieglers, Spanglers, and Rudisills, who arrived on the same ship, settled in York County, Pennsylvania (Gibson, York County, p. 525). He was one of the organizers of Christ Lutheran Church in York, 1733. He was named one of His Majesty's Justices of the Peace for the County of Lancaster, August 29, 1746, and reappointed in 1749 when York County was set off from Lancaster. He is described as a "principal inhabitant". He died in 1757.

Edwin Swope, Box 155, Mansfield, Missouri, USA 65704, is working on the Swope (Schwab, Schwob) family records in the Protestant church registers of Dühren (Baden) and Leimen/Walldorf (Baden). He has found that Hans Jörg Schwab was born July 19, 1682, at Dühren, son of Jost and Anna Catharina (Wolffhart) Schwab. Jost Schwab was the son of Georg Schwab, citizen of Sinsheim, and married Anna Catharina, daughter of Hans Jörg Wolffhart, of Dühren, May 17, 1681, at Dühren. Hans Georg Schwab had a son Johann Georg, born October 5, 1705, at Wiesloch, who died in America March 30, 1780, in Paradise Township, York County, Pennsylvania. Hans Georg Schwab, Sr., said to be one of the founders of the town of York, Pennsylvania, died there in 1759.

Swope Families in Early Lancaster County, Pennsylvania, and Some of Their Descendants (Provo, Utah: J. Theron Smith, 1972), 2 volumes bound in one, besides being a model of genealogical research for one Pennsylvania German clan, contains all the basic Schwab-Schwob materials from the church registers of the Neckar Valley. Part I (1282 pages) deals with the descendants of Jacob Schwob, of Bennwil, Baselland, Switzerland, who settled in what is now Lebanon County in 1749. Volume II (pp. 1283-1397) presents material on Jost Schwab (1656-1727) of Leimen, who settled in Leacock Township, Chester (now Lancaster) County, in 1720. From this it appears that the Johann Georg Schwab, emigrant of 1727, was the oldest son of Jost Schwab. A daughter of Jost Schwab and sister of the 1727 emigrant, Anna Elisabeth Schwab (1692-1761), married in 1712 Johann Eberhardt Riehm (1687-1779), of Leimen, founder of Reamstown in Lancaster County. Another daughter of Jost, Anna Maria Schwab (born 1698), married in 1719 Andreas Meixell, widower of Leimen. The Meixells probably came to America with her parents in 1720. Andreas Meixell of Donegal Township, Lancaster County, made his will October 25, 1735, probated March 3, 1740.

The Morse-McLachlan volume contains full genealogical accounts of the German families that married into the Schwab-Schwob ancestry, particularly the Wolfahrt-Wolfhardt family of Waiblingen on the Neckar in Württemberg. An earlier genealogy, Gilbert Ernest Swope, History of the Swope Family and their Connections, 1678-1896 (Lancaster, Pennsylvania: T.B. and H.B. Cochran, 1896) is still useful although superseded in many details by Morse-McLachlan.]

26. JOHANN FRIDERICH HILLIGASS. Johann Friderich Hilligass, emigrant of 1727, probably came from the city of Sinsheim, where the rather rare family name of Hilligass is to be found in the Protestant church registers.. He appears among the passenger lists of the William and Sarah, 1727.

[For John Frederick Hillegass (1685-1765), see The Pennsylvania Magazine, XVIII (1894), 85-89; and The Perkiomen Region, I (1895), 50-51. Frederick Hillegass and wife are mentioned as early as 1731 in the registers of the New Goshenhoppen Reformed Church, where they were sponsors to a daughter of Philip Labaar and a daughter of Johann Michael Lutz (PGS, XXVIII, 277). They had a daughter Elisabetha Barbara, baptized by John Peter Miller, June 4, 1732; sponsor, Anna Barbara, daughter of Kaspar Kamm (PGS, XVIII, 278); and a son Georg Peter, baptized May 9, 1736, by Pastor Goetschy (Ibid., p. 281). His residence was in Hanover Township, Philadelphia (now Montgomery) County. He built the oldest gristmill on the upper Perkiomen in 1739 (Bean, Montgomery County, p. 1105). Hillegassville in Upper Hanover Township is named for the family. A descendant founded the regional newspaper, Town and Country, in Pennsburg, in 1874.

A nephew of Frederick Hillegass, Michael Hillegass (1729-1804), was a distinguished Philadelphia merchant, revolutionary leader, and first Treasurer of the United States. For his career, see the Dictionary of American Biography, IX, 51-52; also Emma St. Clair Whitney, Michael Hillegass and His Descendants (Pottsville: M. E. Miller, 1891).

Frederick Hillegass died in 1759; his will is dated June 25, 1759. His widow, Elizabeth Barbara, died May 4, 1759 (Schulze, I, 237: "Old Hillegassin died on May 4th and was buried on the 6th".

Materials in the Dotterer Collection, Historical Society of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia, indicate that the "Hillengass" family was originally from "Schanheim am Eberbach" in Baden.]

Emigrants of the Year 1732

27. CONRAD HILDENBRAND, JR., citizen of Weiler, was reported, with others, on May 7, 1732, as "intending to go to the island of Pennsylvania" [in die Insulam Pensylvaniam zu ziehen gesonnen]. He left after sale of property and payment of debts and the tithe (10. Pfennig) emigration taxes.

Conrad Hildenbrandt, with his family, arrived at Philadephia on the Ship Pleasant, October 11, 1732. He is listed as "sick," and his age is given as 34. With him in the ship lists were the Spenglers (Nos. 29, 32), Johannes Keller (see No. 28), and Georg Michel Favian (see Joseph Fabian, No. 41, below).

[According to records in the Heimatstelle Pfalz, Kaiserslautern, Conrad Hildenbrand was born February 12, 1699, at Weiler am Steinsberg, son of the shoemaker Conrad Hildenbrandt, who was born 1671 in Melsungen in Hessen and died at Weiler after 1740. Conrad, Jr., was by trade a shoemaker, and married 1720/1721 Susanna [———].

Conrad Hildenbrandt, Sr., was married (1) circa 1698, to Anna Elisabetha Barther, baptized at Weiler July 11, 1660, died at Weiler September 9, 1701; (2) December 7, 1702 (Weiler, Reformed Church Register) Anna Eva Brenneisen (born at Heidelberg 1677, died at Weiler, June 13, 1740); and (3) October 18,

YOUR FAMILY TREE

WHERE DO YOU BEGIN? Begin with yourself. Always proceed from the present to the past. Record your name, place and date of birth, marriage and residence. Now search out and record the same type of vital record information about your parents, then your grandparents, and so on through as many generations as possible.

Start gathering your information by interviewing older living members of your family. Family documents, certificates, licenses, Bible records, scrapbooks, and photo albums can be very helpful. The library will have many sources of data including genealogies, census records, directories, and military records.

LOCATING BOOKS. Most of the books in the collection are located in closed stacks, though some statewide finding aids, vital records, and other references are available for browsing on the open shelves in the reading room. You can identify the books you would like to use by checking the card catalog under the author, subject, or title of the book. Subjects would include the name of the family (e.g. MARTIN FAMILY), or the name of a geographic area, followed by a subject heading (e.g. AUGUSTA CO., VIRGINIA. BIOGRAPHY.) Please fill out a request slip for each book you would like to use and the books will be brought to your seat in a few minutes by the paging staff.

LOCATING MICROTEXT. Microtext records are cataloged separately in the microtext reading room. Check the microtext catalog under the appropriate subject to get the roll number of the film you would like to use. You may get the microtext yourself, one item at a time. Please place all used microtext on the return cart for refiling by the staff. Aside from drawers marked census, city directories, military records, and passenger lists, be sure to check the lower half of the microtext catalog under the name of the state for county histories, vital records, or other courthouse records available only on microtext.

LOCATING PERIODICALS. Most genealogy periodicals are filed alphabetically by title in the open stacks of the department. Check the PERiodical Source Index (PERSI) on the reference shelves under the name of the family or the name of the state and county for a list of relevant articles.

YOUR FAMILY TREE

WHERE DO YOU BEGIN? Begin with yourself. Always proceed from the present to the past. Record your name, place and date of birth, marriage and residence. Now search out and record the same type of vital record information about your parents, then your grandparents, and so on through as many generations as possible.

Start gathering your information by interviewing older living members of your family. Family documents, certificates, licenses, Bible records, scrapbooks, and photo albums can be very helpful. The library will have many sources of data including genealogies, census records, directories, and military records.

LOCATING BOOKS. Most of the books in the collection are located in closed stacks, though some statewide finding aids, vital records, and other references are available for browsing on the open shelves in the reading room. You can identify the books you would like to use by checking the card catalog under the author, subject, or title of the book. Subjects would include the name of the family (e.g. MARTIN FAMILY), or the name of a geographic area, followed by a subject heading (e.g. AUGUSTA CO., VIRGINIA. BIOGRAPHY.) Please fill out a request slip for each book you would like to use and the books will be brought to your seat in a few minutes by the paging staff.

LOCATING MICROTEXT. Microtext records are cataloged separately in the microtext reading room. Check the microtext catalog under the appropriate subject to get the roll number of the film you would like to use. You may get the microtext yourself, one item at a time. Please place all used microtext on the return cart for refiling by the staff. Aside from drawers marked census, city directories, military records, and passenger lists, be sure to check the lower half of the microtext catalog under the name of the state for county histories, vital records, or other courthouse records available only on microtext.

LOCATING PERIODICALS. Most genealogy periodicals are filed alphabetically by title in the open stacks of the department. Check the PERiodical Source Index (PERSI) on the reference shelves under the name of the family or the name of the state and county for a list of relevant articles.

ANDREW MIXELL
Deceased

October the 25th, 1739. Have I Andrew Mixell made my testament, and I give to my wife, Anna Mary, after my death, all the household goods, let it be what it will be: bedding, bolsters, and what is in chests shall be hers. The wagon and the two best horses with the gears shall be hers. The wheat in the field and in the barn shall be hers to maintain the children there with, and the eldest son shall have no more than any of the other children, and the land shall also be left to my wife, and it shall be appraised and my wife shall give to the children their share of it and after her death, her shares shall fall to her children.

/s/ Andrew Mixell, his own hand and that these share after the law of the Land.

Witness: Emanuel Carpenter, John Swop, John Bishop.
